THE happy Meeting of Two Friends, after many Years Absence, is so tenderly described in the following beautiful Lines, that we cannot omit inserting them, though without the Leave of either the ingenious Author, or the deserving Subject of them; and therefore we only pre-

To J. B. Esquire.

On his Arrival in England.

UNHURT, when Friends, the Battle over, meet,
How hearty's the Embrace, the Kiss, how sweet!
The same, when after Shipwreck's dire Alarms,
They fall ashore into each others Arms;
Such Joy was mine, when I beheld my Friend,
And gave the Greeting I was wont to send.
Ten Suns had finish'd twice their fiery Race,
Since Fate between us spread the wary Space;
Ten Suns Ten Ages are in Friendship's Style,
And never do her Stars in Absence smile;
But brighter with returning Friends they shine,
And glad the longing Heart, as you do mine.
With heighten'd Pleasure I the Man embrace
Who fill'd so worthily his honour'd Place,
Whose Services deserv'd th' important Trust,
To the State faithful, to the Subject just;
Active and equal, diligent and kind,
And skill'd, and pure in Practice, as in Mind;
Who with like Courage and Success withstood
Oppression, to her upper Seat pursu'd;
And fortify'd by Right the glorious Cause,
Asserted and secur'd th' invaded Laws.
Justice deliver'd thus from Rape, the Fair
Concess'd his Succour, and became his Care.
In Fortune still increasing, and in Fame;
From Envy you alike were free and Blame,
Belov'd you went, esteem'd and lov'd you came.
From prosperous Campaigns when Warriors come,
And bring the Toils Reward, their Laurels home;
The Many meet them with Applauses loud,
Their Glory, Fame, and of their Praises proud;
Thus I — but to explain it I forbear,
I might not speak with Pain, but you would hear.
Your Merit, ere so well 'twas known, I knew,
And mark'd the Scite to set it most in View;
So far was Fortune to my Friendship kind,
And grateful's the Remembrance to my Mind:
Hence see from little Things how great proceed,
As the big Tree does from the smallest Seed.
How firm, you once, the furious Ocean brav'd,
By Hope abandon'd, and by Wonder sav'd!
You the Line's dreadful Hurricanes have known,
And felt the Scorchings of the Torrid Zone
Strange to a Dwelling, where, till later Times,
The Learn'd believ'd no habitable Climes;
But 'midst the Heats a cool, refreshing Breeze
At Morn and Evening curls the circling Seas,
And fans the balmy Canes, and od'rous Trees.
The burning Suns consume the clust'ring Vine,
They feed with kindly Rays the richer Pine.
But still they burn, and fill the Briton sighs,
And pants for cooler Shades and calmer Skies.
When call'd at last your Second Home to leave,
You griev'd at Heart to see the People grieve;
Sorrow so tender and so just must move
A Mind so sensible of gen'rous Love:
Such Harmony of Soul is rarely found,
In Regions for Polite and Soft renown'd;
But Justice, Courtesy, Discretion, gain
Respect of all, and o'er th' Affections reign:
Merit's the same, if we th' Effects compare,
In Umbrian or in Charibean Air.
The mutual Meltings at your Parting prov'd
You mourn'd in like Proportion as you lov'd.
From you to them the sad Infection flew,
And back with double Force from them to you;
Till Britain's Image, with superior Charms
Tempts you, and tears you weeping from their Arms.
The Tears from every Eye now faster flow,
And the fair Isle's in universal Woe:
To lose your left'ning Sails they long delay,
And with a thousand Blessings smooth your Way.

The Skier, propitious to their Pray'rs, befriend
Your Passing, and in Joy your Perils end.
Safe to your native Britain you're restor'd,
To your First Bed, and to your Father's Board.
How moving must the happy Meeting be,
While Sight remains, your hopeful Sons to see!
And o'er them, like the Prophet, lay his Hand,
To bless, in Prospect of the Promis'd Land.

Yesterday arriv'd a French Mail with Advice, that last Monday Se'night the Princess of France began her Journey for Spain, after having taken her Farewell of the Queen, the Dauphin, and the Princesses her Sisters, who seem'd very much concern'd to lose her, and embrac'd her at Parting in the most tender Manner. The Queen stood in a Balcony to see her go, and could not take her Eyes off of the Coach till it was out of Sight. The King carry'd her in his Coach as far as Plessis, after which she got into the Coach that was intended for her, and proceeded with the Duke and Duchess of Tallard, the Duchess d'Antin, and the Marchioness de Tefle, &c. in her Company, to lie that Night at Arpajou.
Letters from the Imperial Army under Marshal Walla, of the 8th Instant, O. S. say, That in the March to the new Camp at Sorrock, the Marshal was suddenly taken ill, and had a Fainting Fit, from which however he soon recover'd, and was put into his Coach, accompany'd by the Prince of Hilburghausen. A Letter of the Day following from Peterwaradin, says he had been seiz'd with a violent Fever, which began with a Vomiting and a Dysentery, and was at first judg'd very dangerous; but that 'twas said he was since something better. Mean time General Seher had the Command of the Army; but before the Word be given out he confers with the Marshal.

These Letters say the Turks fire vigorously upon Belgrade, from 13 Batteries of Cannon and Mortars; and that tho' they had pointed their heavy Cannon chiefly against the Bulwark of St. Elizabeth, they have yet made no Breach in it; but that the Houses in the Town are most of them ruin'd by their Bombs.
They add, That on the 7th General Neuperg General of the Artillery went to the Turkish Army, to settle what is judg'd necessary with the French Ambassador, who is arrived there from Nissa; and 'tis said the British and Dutch Ambassadors are likewise arrived there. The Firing was suspended during the Count's Stay in the Turkish Camp, from whence he was not return'd when the Letters came away.

IRELAND.

Dublin, Aug. 21. On Sunday Night last the Hon. Mrs. Cramer was safely delivered of a Son, at the House of the Right Hon. the Lady Viscountess Dowager Lancashire, her Ladyship's Mother.

On Wednesday last at the Assizes at Mullingar, one Potter, a Watchmaker of that Town was tried and found Guilty for putting a counterfeit Mark on Plate.

We are advised from Belfast, That on a Dispute which has for some Time subsisted between the Merchants of that Port, and the Proprietors of the Hanover and George's Quays, the latter insisting on Sixpence per Tun Keyage for all Goods (except Coals) landed, &c. on said Keys, after the 12th Instant, and the former refusing to pay any more than Twopence as formerly; the Weavers of that Place form'd themselves Yesterday Se'night into Two Parties, in Order to decide it; and when the Tide was full in, the Party for the Proprietors, began by cutting the Cables of some of the Vessels lying at the said Quays, which the other Party resenting, a desperate Battle ensued, that lasted about an Hour, in which many of the former were dangerously wounded, and were at last put to the Rout.

On the 17th Mr. Johnson, Gaoler of Kilmainham, having had Notice that one Daly, who some Time ago had murdered a Mailster, and fled, was returned to a House in James's-street; he came well armed with all his Men and beset the House. Daly got on the Top of the House with his Gun and Case of Pistols, Johnson was in his Vest and his Gun cocked. After some Discourse they fired at each other in the Midst of Thousands of Spectators, but both miss'd and did no Damage. Daly dropp'd one of his Pistols, and made his Escape along the Ridge of the Houses, notwithstanding the Numbers in Pursuit of him.

These are to Certify whom it may concern,

THAT the Two Medicines for external Use, which have been sold with so much Success for the Good of Mankind above Thirty Years last past, are the Cure of are removed from the Minories where they have been sold by the Author, so long, and are now sold only at Mr. Sandwell's Toyshop, the Sign of the Griffin, the Corner of Brompton-Bury in the Poultry, at 5s. the Parcel, with printed Directions given with them.

All Sorts of RUPTURES, BURSTEN, or BROKEN BELLIES.

These two Remedies need no other Recommendation than themselves will manifest in two or three Days using, having their admirable and even astonishing Success, gained the Reputation they so justly deserve, both in City and Country, after wearing Trusses for many Years to no Purpose.

For by the Blessing of God, they make a perfect Cure either on Old or Young, in a very little Time, and for a small Charge, without any Pain to, or Confinement of the Patient, one Parcel is generally sufficient for a complete Cure, especially on a young Person.

Many Hundreds of all Ages and Sexes have been cured by them, which occasioned this Publication, for the Good of the Publick, that all such unhappy People may be delivered from the Charge and Slavery of always wearing Trusses.

The World might have had many Certificates of Cures of Persons of all Ages, from Children of a few Months old to grown Persons of 60 Years or upwards; but that People are naturally averse to let it be known, that they ever had such an Infirmity: Yet Mr. Sandwell can satisfy any Enquirer of the Validity of what is here said, that he has had such large Knowledge, by reason of the short Time he has sold 'em, as they from whom the Medicines are now, in good Reasons, removed.
